

FACTSHEET: ONLINE TOOLS TO IDENTIFY COMMUNITY RESOURCES FOR TRANSITIONING YOUTH

PATHWAYS ONLINE TOOL FOR PHYSICIANS

Pathways is an online tool used by specialists and family physicians to find community resources, and to refer patients to an appropriate specialist. Many Divisions include information on family physicians accepting new patients in their Pathways database, so Pathways can be helpful in locating a family physician if your patient does not have one.

Using a secure, password-protected website, physicians can quickly access current and accurate community service and referral information, including wait times and areas of practice for specialists, clinics, and health services across British Columbia.

Pathways users can find information for more than 4,700 specialists and over 1,100 clinics and health services. There are also:

- more than 1,400 referral forms
 - over 2,200 physician-approved resources, including clinical tools and guidelines, patient information, and information on allied health professionals, and
 - a variety of community services – so if you're looking for a community mental health service, this is a great resource!

TREATMENT ACCESS BC – ADDICTIONS TREATMENT

Treatment Access BC is a free patient-matching service for British Columbians seeking care, designed to help them find the most appropriate care and services available for their needs. Addiction service seekers navigate to the site and answer several basic questions about their condition – no identifying information is requested or kept. Service seekers then receive a listing of the licensed or approved services that match their needs.

Addiction service providers update their availability daily (or as many times as they wish), helping ensure a listing of providers with immediate availability. Only service providers who possess bona fide qualifications may have a listing on the site and providers are required to upload a copy of their licence or approval before their listing is made public.
